6. The Cultivation of hate

There has been a sharp increase in targeted attacks on Dalits and members of the minority community. What makes these attacks unique is the state endorsement to the attackers when ministers garland them or reverentially attend their funerals. The message of support is lost on no one. In fact, the only coherent thread running through this government's term has been the othering of a certain section of India. People who are blessed to be followed by the prime minister share only one other thing in common. They are defiantly communal and abusive. Almost as if they have official sanction.
